

Coastal First Nations Dance Festival

Produced by the Dancers of Damelahamid in partnership with the UBC Museum of Anthropology
Until Sunday, March 8 (See web link for events schedule)
The UBC Museum of Anthropology: 6393 NW Marine Drive in Vancouver
Price $20-25

This festival is a celebration of the stories, songs and dances of the Indigenous peoples of the Northwest Coast of North America. Participating groups come from British Columbia, the Yukon, Alaska and Washington including artists from the Musqueam, Squamish, Tsleil-Waututh, Kwakwaka'wakw, Gitksan, Tsimshian, Nisga'a, Haida, Tagish and Tlingit Nations. There are also international guests from abroad.

The event is hosted by the Dancers of Damelahamid. This group is a professional Aboriginal dance company from the Northwest Coast of British Columbia. The Gitksan, or 'people of the river of mists' have inspired a compelling performance, celebrating the diversity and time depth of the many beautiful Indigenous cultures across Canada.

Ring of Fire Review: Chemainus Theatre Cashing in Johnny Cash.

Playing throughout March until April 11 at the Chemainus Theatre:
9737 Chemainus Road Chemainus, Vancouver Island, BC, Canada

Nestled in the seaside community of Chemainus, BC, the Chemainus Theatre Festival features some of the finest performers and performances on Vancouver Island and across the country!

Johnny Cash's story is one of a country music legend featuring more than 30 hit songs matched with narrated insights that give you the scoop on the man; the legend.

The performance was conceived by William Meade and created by Richard Maltby Jr. and it is much more than a biography or collection of Cash's songs.

The story follows Cash's travels from growing up on a farm, to meeting June Carter and falling into the "Ring of Fire". Other songs are: "Five Feet High and Rising", "Daddy Sang Base", "I Walk the Line", "I've Been Everywhere"

The Chemainus Theatre Festival is a non-profit society that runs different plays and performances throughout the year. Also onsite is a gift shop, and a dining room.
